FIRST ARREST UNDER WRIGHT ACT

Arrested on a charge of violating the Volstead law by the alleged transportation of liquor and having liquor in their possession, M. Castro, E. R. Esqueland and Victor Weria were sentenced Monday by Police Judge King to a fine of $200 each, or ninety days in jail. Being unable or unwilling to pay the fine the trio were remanded to jail. This is the first case to be tried in Torrance under the Wright Act, which makes search and seizure without warrant legal. The Ford car in which the defendants were riding, and in which the alleged liquor was found was confiscated and will be sold at public auction.

BOY SCOUT HIKE

The members of Torrance Troop No. 2, Boy Scouts of America, enjoyed a trip to Switzer's Camp over last week end. Each boy carried three lunches and his two blankets. The boys left from Pasadena about 4 o'clock Saturday evening, and had scarcely time to reach the ranger's station to get their fire permits before darkness settled down on the canyon. At dark a suitable place was located with a fire place, clean, dry sand for a bed, and the music of running water for their lullaby. Healthy exercise and mountain air gave all an appetite which made mother's sandwiches taste better than a turkey banquet.

Then followed what is dear to a boy's heart—the camp fire and stories. Sleeping outdoors in February is quite an undertaking because the cold mountain winds are sure to find places to get under the covers. But the novelty of sleeping out under the stars, surrounded by the mysterious noises of night and the music of the running water, far outweighed the discomforts. Morning came too soon.

Then followed a hasty lunch, breaking camp and moving on. Here the boys are taught to clean up their camp, and properly extinguish the fires.

When one tries to paint word pictures of the wonderful country through which our trail to Switzer's led, he finds his vocabulary too small. The beautiful scenery, the cool, fragrant canyons, and smiling sky gave one a new inspiration and drove petty cares away.

The lure of the trail kept the boys restless and they scarcely stopped until they had gained the summit. The beautiful scene from there made one feel just like he was in church, and we all felt we were just a little nearer to the Creator of such beauty.

The journey home was hot and dusty. We missed the clear mountain air. Blisters and sore spots which we had never noticed before began to show up, so we trudged Indian file back to the car line. A good bath and a soft bed was appreciated by all.

We all want to go back again soon and get better acquainted with the great outdoors.

LUNCHEON CLUB MEET

VISIT ORANGE SHOW

Among the many Torrance residents that devoted Sunday to an inspection of the Orange Show at San Bernardino was a party composed of Judge and Mrs. James L. King, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Leslie, Miss Edith Oliver and James Jones. The party reports a pleasant visit and that the show exceeds in attractive features any former year.

EX-CROOK FOILS CROOK

"Blackie Dawson," a reformed bank burglar in "The Face in the Fog," a Paramount picture coming to the Torrance Theatre next Saturday, March 3, knew first hand all about combinations and burglar alarms, so when he built a safe in his own mantle-piece he added a few improvements. When a band of soviet spies followed him home to recover the Romanoff diamonds he had obtained in a remarkable manner an hour previously, "Blackie" gave them the combination to his safe. Then he switched on an electric current so that, when they opened the safe door it emitted lightning flashes and they found themselves bound helpless by magnetic power.

This is one of the most startling electric effects ever filmed, and how it was achieved without electrocuting the actors in this scene is a secret which Cosmopolitan Productions has thus far not disclosed. Lionel Barrymore, Seena Owen and Lowell Sherman are the featured players.
